Toronto, September 27, 2019 – The Globe and Mail today ranked Mill Street & Co. (“Mill Street”) No. 13 on the inaugural Report on Business ranking of Canada's Top Growing Companies. The rank is based on a three-year growth of 3,009%. There are 400 companies on the ranking this year.

Mill Street, a private investment firm founded in 2013, invests in Canadian business leaders that have a proven track record for growth. The company's diversified portfolio and growth culture played an important role in achieving this ranking.

“Being ranked number 13 of Canada's Top Growing Companies is an honour for everyone at Mill Street,” said Noah Murad, President of Mill Street. “We have collectively grown by more than 3,000% in the last three years, and this is still just the beginning. We are proud to keep our promise of bringing real value to our employees, customers, investors, and the communities in which we operate in across Canada. We cannot wait to reach our next milestone together.”

Canada's Top Growing Companies ranking program was launched in 2019 to celebrate Canadian entrepreneurial achievement. The program is voluntary, and companies are required to complete an application process to qualify.

“The 400 companies on the inaugural Report on Business ranking of Canada's Top Growing Companies ranking demonstrate ambition, innovation and tremendous business acumen,” says Phillip Crawley, Publisher and CEO of The Globe and Mail. “Their contributions to the economy help to make Canada a better place, and warrant commendation.”
